PALAMIDI

The Fort of Palamidi is located at the top of the hill of the same name at an altitude of 216 metres, to the east of the city of Nafplio. The fort was built during the period 1711-1715 by the Venetian General Supervisor of the Fleet, Agostino Sagredo, together with the engineers Giancix and Lasalle, to facilitate the military and naval operations of the Venetian conquerors. It is one of the most significant achievements of Venetian fortifications architecture, with a total of eight fortified units, each with its cisterns, food and weapon warehouses, and even barracks.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITE OF THE ASCLEPIEION OF EPIDAUROS

The most important Asclepieion of antiquity, renowned worldwide, developed in the land of Epidauria. All other Asclepieia in Greece and across the Mediterranean, from Rome to the East, are considered dependent on the venerable Sanctuary of Epidaurus and its medical center, where, for the first time—albeit belatedly—Asclepius was honored as a god. The ancient Theatre of Epidaurus is located at the southeastern edge of the sanctuary dedicated to the healing god of antiquity, Asclepius, within the Asclepieion of Epidaurus. It is considered the most perfect ancient Greek theatre in terms of acoustics and aesthetics.
